

The school board met in regular session on February 15, 2017 at Sam Case Elementary School with a quorum of four board members present. Director Bondley was excused from the meeting.

Communications

Sodexo Food Services Director Patty Graves distributed a newsletter, and noted a new “box lunch” program is launching at district high schools. Students will be able to pre-order lunch for club meetings during the lunch hour; kitchen staff will deliver the lunches to their meeting rooms.

She also noted the “future chefs” competition will take place Saturday, March 11th, 9:00 a.m. at Newport High’s cafeteria, and said she is seeking two judges for the event.

Board Reports

Zone 5 Director Amanda Remund reported the girls’ basketball team had four wins this year, after going winless for several years. She noted Waldport High held a “Mr. WHS” contest, and said Blue Mountain College will be signing two WHS students to attend school and join their baseball team.

Chairman Ron Beck congratulated the Newport High jazz band, who placed third at the recent jazz festival. He also gave kudos to the saxophone section for their “best section” award at the festival.

Sam Case Report

Fourth grade teacher Jenna Samoylich reported the school sought to balance academics and character. To accomplish this, she organizes monthly character building themes that all teachers work on. In addition, she guides a leadership program (Cubs RISE- Respect, Inspire, Serve, Engage) for students focusing on character education and service learning. Students have participated in a canned food drive, made Thanksgiving baskets for families in need, and held the first annual talent show. Thirty students participated, and approximately 450 people attended the event.

West Area Report

Sam Case Principal Tiana Tucker reported the school serves 450 students with 17 teachers. She noted 15 of the 17 are rated at .5 for reading, and 16 of 17 are at .5 for math (meaning these classes have achieved at least half a year’s growth in each subject).

Thirty-six students are participating in Battle of the Books, so attend book club each week. Ms. Tucker noted that February is “Love of Reading” month. A group of students is performing a tribute to Dr. Seuss and traveling to other local schools and pre-schools to perform their tribute.

The school enjoys great community partnerships with several organizations, including Oregon Coast Community College, the Hatfield Marine Science Center and OMSI. OMSI donated funds for all fifth grade students at the school to attend outdoor school at their Coastal Discovery Center in March. Newport Rotary presented dictionaries to all third grade students.

Financial Reports

Director of Business Services Julie Baldwin reported nothing unanticipated during January. ADM remains constant, and interest rates increased slightly. The district continues to expend funds keeping the next four years in mind, as legislative allocations are unsure for the coming bienniums.

Superintendent Boynton recognized Newport High’s IB Spanish students, five of whom will be helping at an upcoming City of Newport visioning event. The students will help translate, and will share their thoughts on the future of the City.

Several events took place over the month; all proceeds went to the North Lincoln Hospital Foundation.

Suspension of Policy DG, Banking

Policy DG, Banking specifies the Board will solicit competitive quotes regarding district banking needs every five years, with the possibility of extending on an annual basis another three years.

Oregon Coast Bank is the District’s depository for district funds. The District is extremely satisfied with the service provided by Oregon Coast Bank, and wishes to retain their services.

In order to do so, the board needs to consider suspending Policy DG for a period of time. The board will consider this action at the next board meeting.

The Board commended the Superintendent on his management of fiscal resources, and noted their encouragement with respect to student growth and achievement. Board members also noted the expansion of career/technical education opportunities.

Mr. Beck noted the board will be working with Mr. Boynton on a contract, and said the Superintendent would seek no additional compensation, given the current financial picture in the state of Oregon.
