

Student Self-Harm Coping Strategies*

Next Time I Feel Like Hurting Myself, I will...

DISTRACT MYSELF - TO GIVE MYSELF TIME TO THINK

- Draw on the area I would like to self-harm
- Eat something spicy or sour
- Reach out to a friend
- Clean something
- Take a cold shower
- Do something to help someone else out
- Watch positive YouTube videos
- Learn Lyrics to a new song
- Play with putty, slime, clay, etc.

RELEASE ENERGY/TENSION - WHEN I AM ANGRY OR UPSET

- Exercise (anything that makes your heart rate for 10-15 minutes)
- Tear up a piece of paper, old newspaper, or cardboard
- Make something out of clay or playdoh and then smash it
- Make a lot of noise
- Cry for as long as you need to
- Snap some twigs/sticks
- Kick a football/soccer ball/any ball
- Scream into a pillow

SLOW AND SOOTHING – WHEN SAD OR DEPRESSED

- Take a hot bath with good smelling soaps
- Curl under a blanket with some hot chocolate
- Hug a loved one or stuffed animal for at least 10 seconds
- Make a list of things that you're grateful for
- Make some of your favorite treats
- Call a friend and talk about things you enjoy
- Search inspiring quotes online
- Watch TV or read a book
- Organize something
- Write an alternative ending to your favorite movie
